Creating Value for Others

The GW New Venture Competition Finals are the culmination of an academic-year-long series of workshops, advising sessions, speakers, active mentorship, networking and pitch events focused on new venture creation. Thanks to our generous sponsors and volunteers, we are able to provide an educational experience to participating students that helps them get their ideas, research, and passions out of the classrooms and labs, and into the real world. Using the Lean Startup approach, the student teams are encouraged to “get out of the building” to test their burgeoning business models with empirical evidence.

This year, we received 106 first-round entries in January from all of the GW schools. From those initial submissions, 42 were invited to write full business summaries in the semi-final round, and from those, 10 teams made it to the GW New Venture Competition Finals. While the finalists competed for the over $250,000 in cash and in-kind prizes, the participants on all 106 teams have gained precious experience in trying to turn an idea into a venture that can create value for others.

The GW New Venture Competition is one of many programs provided by the GW Office of Innovation and Entrepreneurship. The office has a broad mission to support the GW community beyond the creation of new ventures, through other stages and modes of innovation, like ideation, design thinking, and intrapreneurship. The skills developed through these experiential educational opportunities prepare GW students for success in their future innovative endeavors, whether launching a high-tech startup, developing a new product line, championing a social cause, or introducing a new government policy.

GWupstart Social Innovation Lab is GW’s central hub for social entrepreneurship training, mentoring, and funding. Based in the Honey W. Nashman Center for Civic Engagement and Public Service, it builds on GW’s strength as an institution that fosters the next generation of citizen leaders. It provides know-how and support to students to turn their ideas into action that makes a measurable, sustained difference in the local and global communities they call home.

Social entrepreneurship brings together students’ passion to make a difference in the world and the tools of business. This melding ensures that students’ efforts are designed to address real social needs in an organizationally and financially sustainable way.

The GWupstart Social Innovation Lab Workshop Series was offered each month in the fall semester, and honed students’ conceptual and practical understanding of social entrepreneurship. Students got hands on experience with applying the lean startup methods of getting out of the building and talking to potential customers and beneficiaries. They also took part in rapid prototyping sessions that demonstrated how to simulate a solution and get immediate feedback without spending excess time and money.

The GWupstart Prize Track of the GW New Venture Competition awarded $7,500 for Best Nonprofit Social Venture and $7,500 for Best For-Profit Social Venture.

“The New Venture Competition is a great opportunity for any business at any stage—it will force you to think critically about the viability of your venture, give you a strong mentor network, and go a long way in making your passion translate into results.”

Parth Chauhan,
Elliott School of International Affairs, 2013

Pranav Kaul ESIA, BA ’16, HomeGrown Farms

This year’s for-profit social venture winner—and the Competition’s first place winner—was HomeGrown Farms, which grows local produce year round by putting underemployed members of the community to work in repurposed warehouses outfitted with energy efficient hydroponic systems.

The nonprofit winner—and the competition’s second place winner—was Mental Health Promotion, an organization that provides policy advocacy, professional training, and online resources to help high schools integrate mental health education into existing health classes.

The competition’s fourth place winner was Rooftop Tea Company, a for-profit social venture that employs women to grows premium tea on their own rooftops. These women, who live in developing countries, would otherwise not be able to work outside their home.

The other final teams mentored by GWupstart were Project Dream Miles and RightDate.

Since 2010, annual surveys have indicated that mentors provide the most valuable input to the teams. While the GW New Venture Competition offers numerous opportunities and resources, including extensive feedback from the judges, team mentors have made the strongest impact. The Competition is supported by a robust network of volunteer mentors who help GW students. All semi-finalist teams are matched with a mentor, many of whom are GW alumni. All teams participating in the competition may request a mentor at any point.

Two networking events, sponsored by Brazen Careerist, were hosted for GW student entrepreneurs to meet and mingle with business professionals, industry experts, and successful entrepreneurs: a Student-Mentor Match event and a Virtual Networking Hour. Students are matched with mentors who have related industry or startup experience, and in consideration of personal characteristics.

This year’s mentors volunteered their time and experience to provide support and advice to 42 semi-finalist teams. They worked with teams from mid-February to mid-April, and several mentors have chosen to continue with their teams after the competition ended.

Mentors offer a considerable amount of thoughtful leadership, and we appreciate the time, dedication, and commitment it takes to engage the GW startup community.

The Office of Innovation and Entrepreneurship also offers a Mentors-in-Residence (MIR) program for the GW community. The primary goal of the MIR program is to engage GW students, faculty, and staff with seasoned entrepreneurs and business executives. Through various activities and office hours, mentors will provide guidance, coaching, perspective, and connections to enhance entrepreneurship at GW. Our MIR team includes: Randy Graves, Annamaria Konya-Tannon, and Bob Smith.

“We are committed to supporting our students and helping them succeed. Our mentors are an integral part of our team, and we are grateful for their contributions to the GW community.”

Randy Graves, Mentor of the GW New Venture Competition since its inception.

Eric Bendickson is Co-Chief Investment Officer of Strategic Investments Group, a role he shares with Markus Krygier and Tim O’Hara. As Co-CIO, he is responsible for all aspects of Strategic’s investment process, portfolios, and performance. Mr. Bendickson also provides asset allocation analysis and strategy, implements the beta overlays for Strategic’s portable alpha programs and manages in-house trading activity to provide low-cost, passive beta exposure. Prior to joining Strategic, he was a consultant at the World Bank and a Research Assistant for the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC). He holds an M.B.A. in International Business and Finance from the George Washington University School of Government and Business Administration, and a BA in Economics from Colorado College. Mr. Bendickson is a CFA charterholder and a member of the CFA Society of Washington, DC.

Mary Galeti, Executive Director and Vice-Chairman, Tecovas Foundation

Mary Galeti serves as the Executive Director and Vice-Chair of the Tecovas Foundation. The Tecovas Foundation funds social innovation and entrepreneurship by focusing on building community, leveraging new service models, and sustainable economic development both domestically and internationally.

Galeti also serves as a Principal at Shiplake Partners, a boutique consultancy which helps institutions create and nurture relationships with the communities that exist both internally and externally.

Galeti serves as a Global Board Member of the Global Shapers Foundation, an initiative of the World Economic Forum (WEF). She is the Vice-Chair of the StartingBloc Social Innovation Fellowship Program. She served on the Board of Directors of the Council on Foundations, and chaired the Family Philanthropy Committee. In 2014, she was named a Senior Fellow in Social Innovation at the Lewis Institute at Babson College. She is a member of the WEF Global Agenda Council on Values. She is a Startingbloc Fellow and a member of the Global Shapers’ Washington, DC Hub.

Sarah Hillware, Founder, Girls Health Ed

Sarah Hillware is a social entrepreneur, marketing, and communications strategist. She has spent her career helping organizations execute both short-term and long-term growth and engagement strategies.

Recently, she was named one of the DC region’s 40 Under 40 professionals. She also received the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Award during her time at the George Washington University.

She has held positions in media, technology, and philanthropy and is also the founder of Girls Health Ed, a nonprofit health education program for girls and young women ages 8 to 17 throughout the US and Kenya, which she started while she was a student at GW. She has given two TEDx talks on the empowerment of girls and women, and writes for The Huffington Post in her spare time.
Rob Kaplan, Co-founder and Managing Director, Closed Loop Fund

As Co-Founder and Managing Director of the Closed Loop Fund, an innovative platform for impact investing, sustainability, and the circular economy, Rob oversees strategy and new business model development, as well as day-to-day operations. The Fund aims to scale recycling through zero interest loans to cities and investments in waste companies.

Prior to joining the Fund, Rob served as Director of Sustainability for Walmart Stores where he led the creation of the Sustainability Leaders shop on Walmart.com to help consumers make responsible purchasing decisions online, built a unique collaborative initiative called the Beauty & Personal Care Innovation Accelerator, and cofounded The Closed Loop Fund. Rob previously led Walmart’s cross-functional efforts to eliminate 20 million metric tons of greenhouse gas from the supply chain.

Rob received his M.B.A. from the Haas School where he studied marketing, corporate responsibility, and social entrepreneurship. He received an undergraduate degree in political communication from the George Washington University where he learned that perception is reality. He lives in Brooklyn with his wife and two children.

Anirudh Kulkarni, Founder and CEO, Customer Value Partners

Mr. Kulkarni is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Customer Value Partners (CVP), a strategic business and technology consultancy focused on the healthcare, national security, and US public sector marketplaces. CVP is a multiple awardee of the Inc 500/500, Virginia Fantastic 50, SmartCEO Future 50, and other fast growth programs. He has more than 25 years of experience in business and technology consulting, strategy development, change management, and advanced technology strategy.

Mr. Kulkarni was previously the Managing Director for Strategic Services at Answerthink, a private equity backed Fortune 500 consulting and systems integration firm that went public in 1998. Prior to that, he led the commercial media and publishing consulting practice at SRA International. He was also the founder of Anthem Decision Support Systems, a software product company specializing in decision support and analytical tools for sales and marketing in the consumer products industry.

He received a B.S. in operations research and computational science (with honors), with concentrations in statistics and economics, and an M.S. in operations research and management science, both from the George Washington University. He lives with his wife, Priya, in northern Virginia and is the proud father of two wonderful daughters.

Michael Quinn, Founding Partner, Q Advisors

Michael Quinn, founding partner of Q Advisors, brings a unique and highly valuable background to telecom, media, and technology (TMT) investment banking that combines finance, hands-on M&A experience, and law. With more than 25 years of international operations and investment banking experience in the telecommunications industry, Michael has originated, structured, and executed more than 100 deals totaling more than $4 billion in transaction value. Michael’s deep industry expertise and extensive transaction experience has enabled him to lead M&A and debt and equity financings in a variety of TMT sectors, including cloud and managed services, competitive wireline telecom, wireless, digital media, social networking, mobile content, satellite, and mobile infrastructure and solutions.

Michael received a B.A. in International Affairs from the George Washington University and a J.D. from the New York University School of Law. He is currently on the Advisory Board of the George Washington University School of Business and on the Board of the Elliot School of International Affairs at the George Washington University.
FINAL ROUND JUDGES

Annette Scott, First Lady of Florida

As First Lady of Florida, Mrs. Ann Scott focuses on traveling the state, sharing her passion for reading and literacy with Florida's students. An avid reader herself, the First Lady believes that early learning builds a foundation for lifelong learning. In addition to promoting the importance of literacy, First Lady Scott spends time with foster children and supports healthy lifestyles for children and families. A military wife, daughter, and sister, she visits bases around the state and takes time to thank our service men and women for the sacrifices they make for our country. Together, Governor and First Lady Scott have two daughters and four young grandsons. Throughout their lives, the Scotts have been committed to helping their community both locally and around the world. The First Lady received her degree in business administration from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas. She and Governor Scott are proud to be the founding sponsors of the George Washington University's New Venture Competition.

Gary Swart, General Partner, Polaris Partners

Gary Swart is a General Partner with Polaris Partners and until April 2014 he was the CEO of oDesk (now UpWork), the world’s largest online workplace—which has more than 12 million registered contractors, and over $1B in work delivered through the platform annually. Gary has spoken at the Inc. Leadership Conference, The Economist’s Ideas Economy panel, South by Southwest, TechCrunch 50, TiECon, GigaOM’s Net:Work Conference, and at Harvard Business School which teaches a case study on oDesk. His commentary has appeared in a variety of publications including Forbes, TechCrunch, The Washington Post, and The Next Web. He has also appeared on TV and radio shows including the BBC, National Public Radio, CNBC, Bloomberg TV, and Startups Uncensored.

Previously, Gary led SMB Sales for the Americas at IBM’s Rational Software Product Group, and also served as VP of Worldwide Sales and Operations at Intellibank. Gary holds a BS in Business Administration from the University of Maryland.

Peter Weissman, Partner, Blank Rome LLP

Mr. Weissman is a partner in the Watergate DC office of the international law firm Blank Rome LLP. He concentrates his practice in patent litigation in the federal courts and prosecution before patent offices in the U.S. and abroad. He regularly counsels start-up companies on patent and trademark procurement and strategies, and also manages large worldwide patent portfolios. Mr. Weissman is patent counsel for the GW Technology Communication Office and is a co-founder of the George Washington Entrepreneurs Round Table.
The Distinguished Entrepreneurial Achievement Award (DEAA) was created by the GW Entrepreneurs Round Table (GWERT), a university-wide group of individuals who support the advancement of entrepreneurship at GW.

GWERT and the GW Office of Entrepreneurship award the DEAA to a successful GW entrepreneur whose accomplishments inspire and motivate our aspiring entrepreneurs. The award is traditionally presented during the GW New Venture Competition Finals. The 2016 recipient is Fadi Ghandour, Founder and former CEO of Aramex International, who joins a league of notable entrepreneur recipients:

2008 Governor Richard Scott
2009 Asghar Mostafa (SEAS)
2010 Linda Rabbitt (GSEHD)
2011 Edward Barrientos (GWSB)
2012 Terry Collins (SEAS)

2013 Richard Stroupe (SEAS)
2014 Roland Schumann (GWSB)
2015 Michael Quinn (ESIA)
2016 Fadi Ghandour (CCAS)

Fadi Ghandour CCAS, ’81
FOUNDER AND VICE CHAIRMAN OF ARAMEX & EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN OF WAMDA CAPITAL

Fadi Ghandour is the Founder and former CEO of Aramex International, a company that he established in 1982 at the age of 22. Built up from a scrappy startup to a global shipping giant, Aramex then became known as the FedEx of the Middle East. In 1997, Aramex became the first company in the Arab world to go public on the NASDAQ stock exchange. The firm today employs roughly 14,000 people, has operations in more than 60 countries, and trades on the Dubai stock exchange at a $1.3 billion market capitalization.

Fadi has since been recognized as an international entrepreneur and thought leader. Since stepping down in 2012 as CEO, he has dedicated himself to strengthening civil society in the Middle East by supporting entrepreneurship and civic engagement. Currently, Fadi is the Executive Chairman of Wamda Capital, a new Venture Capital fund focusing on technology investments in the Arab World. Fadi has turned to promoting entrepreneurship as broadly as feasible in order to strengthen civil society in the region. He also dedicates his days to Ruwwad for Development, a community network he established while still at the helm of Aramex. At GW, Fadi has provided philanthropic support to establish the Aramex-GW Student Fund in 2011. The grants to the Elliott School for graduate students focused on Middle East studies allow them to serve as volunteers with nongovernmental organizations in Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, the West Bank, and other countries in the region. Working alongside community activists and social entrepreneurs for a summer, students enhance their cultural understanding, hone language skills, and prepare for careers in our increasingly globalized society.

Fadi received a B.A. in Political Science from the George Washington University Columbian College of Arts and Sciences in 1981.
Gary Swart, Venture Partner at Polaris Partners and former CEO of oDesk (now UpWork), was the 2016 GW New Venture Competition Keynote Speaker. Gary is also a mentor to entrepreneurs and students, and frequently speaks to these groups about the challenges facing growing businesses.

Gary Swart received his Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration from the University of Maryland, College Park. He began his career in sales, leading corporate sales at Pure Software and Rational Software. From 2003-2004, he was a business unit executive for small and medium business sales for the Americas at IBM’s Rational Software Product Group. In 2004, he became VP of Worldwide Sales at Intellibank, where he was responsible for leading the sales organization.

Gary joined oDesk as CEO in September 2005. Under his leadership, oDesk grew to more than 10 million registered freelancers working for 3 million businesses around the world. In 2014, oDesk merged with Elance to become the world’s largest online workplace. As the CEO of oDesk, Gary was also a thought leader in the future of work, how best to hire and manage teams, and the rise of the “freelance economy”.

In June 2014, Gary joined Polaris Ventures as the first venture partner focused on technology on the West Coast.
FOUNDING SPONSORS

RICHARD SCOTT

Rick Scott is the 45th Governor of the State of Florida and has worked to cut taxes, pay down state debt, and invest in education to grow opportunities for Florida families. Under the Governor’s leadership, state debt has been paid down by $3.6 billion, and more than 462,000 private-sector jobs have been created in three years. In addition, Florida has jumped from 11th to 6th in the nation for overall quality of its education system.

As the son of a truck driver and JCPenny clerk, Governor Scott is a veteran of the US Navy and is considered one of America’s foremost problem solvers. Governor Scott has been married to his high school sweetheart, Ann, for 41 years, and together they have two adult daughters, Allison and Jordan, and three grandsons, Auguste, Quinton, and Sebastian.

ANNETTE SCOTT

First Lady Ann Scott was born in Mobile, Alabama, and grew up in Dallas, Texas. She met Governor Scott during her senior year of high school and they have been married now for more than 41 years. As Florida’s First Lady, Mrs. Scott champions children’s causes, encouraging literacy through early reading and writing. She also supports health and nutrition programs and advocates on behalf of foster children and military families in the State of Florida.

Throughout their lives the Governor and First Lady have been committed to helping their community locally and around the world. Mrs. Scott has a degree in business administration from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas. Prior to her role as First Lady, Mrs. Scott ran a successful interior design business in Naples, Florida.
